SCHOOL REPORT

To the citizens of Phippsburg :

I respectfully submit the following report :

It was decided at the beginning to divide the school year into three terms of twelve, ten and eight weeks respectively. This plan worked very successively and I would recommend that it be continued, as it shortens the vacation between the winter and spring terms which has previously been too long, allowing the children to lose much of their interest in the school work.

The spring term at the Ashdale school and the fall term at the Basin school was broken into by sickness, but the time lost was later made up. Whooping cough was prevalent in some parts of the town during the winter term and was responsible for some irregularity in attendance.

Before beginning school in the spring all the school books in town were carefully gone over and those unfit for further use were replaced by new ones, thus rendering the schools very well supplied with text books. Most of the books in use are up to date and well liked by teachers and pupils, but I find that the geographies which have been in use for the past seven years are so badly worn out that they will have to be replaced by new ones before another school year.

No extensive repairs have been necessary and all the school buildings in town except three are in a good condition; at Pitch Pine Hill and the Center considerable work needs to be done but at West Point the school house is not worth repairing and should be replaced by a new one.

In the following schedule will be found the names of teachers and other information in regard to each school.

We were compelled by law to open the Dromore school for the fall term, but owing to the fact that the average attendance in that district in the last school year was less than eight scholars, the school has by law automatically discontinued itself, and can only be reopened by vote of the town.

The Basin school is the largest in town and many think it should be graded, but owing to the great irregularity in attendance I have not felt justified in going to that expense.

The attendance has been very good in nearly all the schools, and I think this shows that a good deal of interest is felt by the pupils and also by the parents in encouraging them. In the cases of irregular attendance that have come to my notice, I cannot help feeling that they were due for the most part to a lack of proper feeling of responsibility on the part of the parents.

The practise of visiting the schools is one which should be followed by parents and friends of the pupils, as it not only encourages the children but also gives an opportunity to become acquainted with the teacher and familiarize themselves with the work that is being done in the schools.

The teachers who have been employed during the past year have done their work in a faithful and conscientious manner and for the most part have met with the excellent success which they deserve.

Whenever it has been possible I have kept teachers in the same school, as much valuable time is often lost in making changes.

An itemized account of school expenses will be found in the selectmen's report.

I wish here to thank all who have assisted in promoting prosperous schools.

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN H. STACEY,
Superintendent of Schools.

PHIPPSBURG, February 20, 1909

Following the practice of the past two years I publish herein a copy of the record of vital statistics as reported during the year 1908.
